The RYE Method

For over 30 years RYE (Research on Yoga in Education) has been working with educators around the world developing techniques & skills to enhance the learning environment within the classroom for both teachers and students.

RYE was devised by Micheline Flak in Paris in the 1970s. She experimented with yoga at school with remarkable results. RYE has since become a worldwide organisation with branches all over the world.

The RYE approach is to intersperse simple yoga techniques over the school day, integrating them into the topic of learning. This helps improve pupils' attitudes to learning and maximises their mindfulness, attention and memory. These techniques can be integrated into many different activities with children, offering valuable life skills. Research shows that these techniques can improve concentration, focus & self-esteem, promoting effective learning.

RYE Foundation Module

The six day RYE Foundation Module offers training in simple, fun & interactive yoga techniques adapted for the classroom for children 3 - 18yrs.

The Foundation Module 2018 involves six days training :

- Saturday 12th May : Learning Through the Body
- Sunday 13th May : RYE Techniques for the Curriculum
- Saturday 16th June : Emotions in the Classroom (Ways to calm tension & conflicts, enhancing motivation, concentration & learning)
- Saturday 14th July : Preparation for Exams (Practices to improve concentration & self-confidence in stressful situations)
- Saturday 22nd September : Relaxation in the Classroom
- Saturday 27th October : Yoga and Children with Special Needs
